

PHOTOPLAYS AND PHOTOPLAYERS

By GARDNER MACK.

Film Makers Anxious To Have Public See How Picture Plays Are Turned Out.

One of the most significant features of the new era in the production of motion pictures is the effort that is being made by the film companies throughout the country to familiarize the patrons of the pictures with the process of manufacture. Heretofore, manufacturers of film have been rather opposed to taking the public into their confidence. But now no effort is being spared to acquaint the public with the players and the various steps through which the pictures go from the time the scenario is received until the finished feature play is turned out.

Evidence of that was recently had in this city when Gladys Hulette and a party of Edison players appeared at Crandall's Theater and made brief speeches regarding their work. The Edison company encourages its players to place themselves at the disposal of the exhibitors for just such purposes whenever they may go. Several other companies have sent their players into the theaters to be exhibited along with the film showing some of their plays.

house, athletic building, tennis court, nursery and bathhouse, hospital, post-office, theater, pumping station, arsenal, carpenter and scenic shops, corral, zoo and arena, sawmill, cow-barn, lighthouse, dairy, junkhouse, Chinatown, Indian village, Wyoming village, fort, horse shelter, water tank, revolving stage and rocking stage. Studded about the entire city are bungalows in which many of the inhabitants reside.

As a general rule moving picture studios are inaccessible; visitors usually intrude on the real work of the making of pictures, regarding the players and the producers. It is felt, however, that nothing will be lost by the opening of its gates to the great outside. Because of the vastness of the operating ground there will be plenty of room for both players and public. Guides will be furnished to conduct parties over the entire 80 acres, explaining everything to the minutest detail and initiate them into a few of the mysteries of the business.

Doubt Sunken Vessel Has American Registry

State Department officials are inclined to doubt that the Archipelago-American Company's vessel Washington, officially reported by Ambassador Morgenthau as sunk in Trebizond harbor by the Russian fleet, is really an American ship. The records showed the Archipelago-American Company's offices are at Smyrna, with apparently no American branches nor American registry.

URGES EIGHT HOUR LAW IN THE HOME

Author of Education Bulletin Declares Home-Making Out-ranks All Trades.

An eight-hour law is needed for the home, according to Mrs. Iris Prouty O'Leary, author of a bulletin on "Cooking as a Training for Homemaking Vocational Schools," published by the Bureau of Education. Mrs. O'Leary says that some of the methods of modern business are needed in the home. Homemaking, she declares, outranks all other trades in the number of persons employed. Of the 31,000,000 women over ten years old in the United States, 24,000,000 are engaged in homemaking. Mrs. O'Leary points out that "while girls may enter other trades, the great majority of women become, at one time or another, homemakers. Wage earning is for them but a temporary affair, which they will leave for a permanent position in their own homes."

The bulletin lays emphasis on the fact that cooking is a scientific process and should be taught as such, especially in the new vocational schools that are being established.

The bulletin deals solely with the teaching of cooking for homemaking purposes in the day and evening classes of the vocational schools.

When Wind Blows; Don't Be Too Sure They May Be Only the New Fleshing Socks—Chicago Likes 'Em.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—If the wind happens to be playing havoc with skirts in front of the Flatiron building, New York, or on Chestnut street, Philadelphia, or for that matter, at Fourteenth and F streets, Washington, and it looks that way, don't be too sure. It may not be. They may be only "fleshing socks."

The "fleshing socks" are new. Leonard M. Zeder, who rules on such matters in Chicago, says they're perfectly all right. They were born of the recent style show.

Here's what they are: Half hose attached to the lower end of a pair of flesh-colored stockings. Dearborn street has seen 'em, and they're quite nifty. Oh, yes, to be absolutely up to date the sock part must be rolled at the top. It shows more—er—of the thighs, when the wind blows from the right direction.

Dr. Van Schaick had for a number of years been pastor of the Church of Our Father. When he determined to go to aid the Belgians he tendered his resignation, but instead of accepting it, the congregation granted him an indefinite leave of absence.

Officers and Crews Living in Squalor

Congressman Humphrey Urges $289,000 for Two New Geodetic Survey Vessels.

Supporting an appropriation of $289,000 for two new vessels for the Coast and Geodetic Survey's use in Alaska waters, Congressman Humphrey of Washington declared in the House yesterday that officers and crews on the present Government boats are compelled to live in quarters that the law would not allow on privately owned boats.

Conditions of squalor cannot be avoided, he said, on the two old boats used in waters "the most dangerous, some parts of the year, on the globe."

Illustrating the necessity for the $289,000 asked for surveys on the Pacific coast, he said in one narrow strip of water, forty miles long, sixteen pinnacle rocks had been found, each capable of wrecking a vessel. This trip, he said, is part of the regular route between Seattle and Alaska.

ALLEGED BIGAMIST HELD IN RICHMOND

Martin Kaploff, who was arrested in New York several days ago and brought here on a charge of bigamy, and who obtained his release on a bond of $1,000, faced the same charge in Richmond yesterday, according to dispatches.

In the Richmond court Kaploff made the plea that he was "doped" with a cigar and then inveigled into signing papers which certified that he was married to Etta Pergament, of New York. The scene was Hoboken, N. J. Kaploff produced records from the New York Court of Domestic Relations, showing that Judge Cornell had directed that the certificate be destroyed when he was once arrested on a desertion charge.

Kaploff was married a year ago to a Richmond girl in Washington, and the bigamy charge was ordered transferred to this city, where the marriage took place.

Let the "Kiddies" Have Plenty of Florida Oranges and Grapefruit

The juice of tree-ripened Florida citrus fruits is both food and drink for growing children. It can be given freely, even to very young boys and girls. The juice of Florida oranges and grapefruit will refresh the child when lesson-weary without endangering the digestion. In children's homes, hospitals and sanitariums Florida orange juice and grapefruit are recommended by physicians as the most easily digested and wholesome refreshment for most patients.

Citrus fruit grown in Florida surpasses in every good quality—it is fragrant, juicy, spicy, sweet and strength-giving. Grown in the life-giving sun of the semi-tropics, tempered by the gentle winds of the Gulf, filled almost to bursting by the summer showers which come just at the right time, covered in the morning by jeweled dew drops and mellowed in the evening by the golden light of many harvest moons—Florida oranges and grapefruit are food and drink truly fit for all the family—men, women and children.

Food for the Whole Family

Florida oranges and grapefruit are food and drink for the whole family. Citrus fruits equally are good for the most delicate child and the strongest man. Keep Florida oranges and grapefruit in your home all the time—buy them by the box. Eat them and drink them—at breakfast, luncheon and dinner. They will give all your folks brain and body energy and save doctor's bills.

Buy Only Ripe Citrus Fruits

Only tree-ripened oranges and grapefruit are fit to eat. When the fruit is picked before fully ripe, it lacks in flavor, juice and sweetness. Progressive Florida growers operate in a non-profit making co-operative body for the mutual protection of producers and consumers of citrus fruits. This organization ships only tree-ripened oranges and grapefruit. When you buy these fruits look for its mark in red on boxes and wrappers:

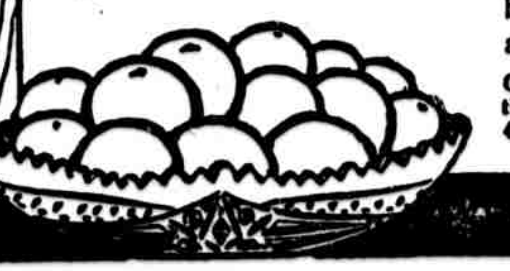

Drink the Juice of These Real Florida Oranges

FLORIDA CITRUS EXCHANGE

Eat These Grapefruit—Nature's Favorite Tonic

No country in the world can produce oranges so spicy, so sweet, so juicy, so fragrant, so strength-giving as Florida. No other country can grow such grapefruit, with its texture of pulp and rind, its richness of flavor, its delicious juice. No country has the climate—that is why: Florida seems to have been ordained by Providence as the natural home of citrus fruits. Ponce de Leon and his staff brought with them over the seas and left in Florida, when seeking the fountain of youth, the source of that which has most nearly given to the world the object of their quest. The seeds of the oranges and grapefruit, so long ago brought from Spain in these fruits are now furnishing health not only to those who live in Florida, but blood-sunshine all the year round to those bound by the snow and ice or enervated by the heat of the North.

Oranges and grapefruit are both food and drink. They have many uses in cookery and for confections. Booklet telling numerous ways of serving them and giving many recipes for their use mailed for 4 cents in stamps. Address, Florida Citrus Exchange, 625 Citizens Bank Building, Tampa, Florida.

The world has known what Cottolene is for over a quarter of a century

Cottolene established a class of its own over a generation ago. Cottolene was in the front rank of the great movement for bettering household service and for improving food products. Cottolene has always held its place. There is nothing to which it may be compared.

There are no secrets in the production of Cottolene. Its manufacture and its constituents are as well known as the simplest things done in every kitchen.

Cottolene

Cottolene is an exact combination of the two finest cooking fats nature produces.

The cotton seed oil in Cottolene is pressed from selected seed—it is a grade so choice that it is not listed on the market. It is purer, sweeter and better in food value than most salad oils. The beef stearine is the product of the freshest, finest leaf beef suet known.

It is the exact combination of these two fats which gave Cottolene its high place over a quarter of a century ago, and which has held this place for it.

Cottolene is economical, but better than that it actually improves the quality and flavor of all foods cooked with it—whether it is used for shortening, frying or cake making.
